

Brain injury rehabilitation

Brainkind Daniel Yorath House

Brainkind Daniel Yorath House is a neurological centre in Leeds, West Yorkshire providing innovative neuro rehabilitation and person-centred support to enable people to thrive after a brain injury. Our aim is for the people we support to live as independently as possible in an environment that enhances their wellbeing.

About Brainkind Daniel Yorath House

Brainkind Daniel Yorath House is a specialist neurological centre where people with acquired brain injuries or complex neurological conditions come for an initial 12-week period to begin their rehabilitation. This can be extended to provide for further support, as required.

Our specialist rehabilitation is based on a neuro-behavioural approach. This is led by our experienced multidisciplinary team, consisting of clinical neuropsychology, speech and language therapy, occupational therapy, physiotherapy, and rehabilitation support workers.

We focus on enabling people to function more independently and develop their lives as they choose. Our programmes include clinical, educational, and therapeutic sessions; support for personal, social, and domestic skills; guided leisure time; vocational support and training; behavioural management; and access to the local community.

Brainkind Daniel Yorath House, rated 'Good' by the CQC, is equipped with a wide range of facilities to help support the delivery of our expert care. Our multi-disciplinary team has specialist assessment and therapy rooms, a physio gym, and a large private garden to aid the people we support in their rehabilitation and recovery.

The people we support are actively involved in reviewing their progress. We promote the engagement and participation of families in the rehabilitation process, and home leave is encouraged wherever possible.

Whether someone needs assistance with daily tasks, therapy to improve emotional or social skills, or physiotherapy and support to regain their physical independence, our services ensure that life after a brain injury is a life well lived – whatever that means to the people we support.

Service overview and facilities

Becoming more independent

Access to the wider community is integral to rehabilitation. Brainkind Daniel Yorath House is close to shops and leisure facilities with easy access to Leeds and Wakefield – offering opportunities for education, training, and employment – making it ideal for social integration.

Slow-stream beds

We also offer slow-stream beds, designed for people who need more time and a gentler pace to achieve their goals. This service combines the same high standards of care and therapy as our fast-stream programmes, but with extended timelines and personalised activity plans that place quality of life at the forefront.

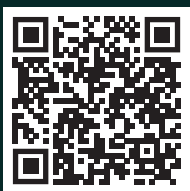

Each person benefits from flexible clinical add-ins tailored to their needs; a rich programme of therapeutic activities and guided leisure time; opportunities to develop personal, social, and domestic skills at their own pace; full participation in our community; and access to local amenities. Our slow-stream approach is ideal for individuals progressing from acute rehabilitation, or for those whose recovery is best supported by a steady, sustainable pathway.

Conditions we specialise in

We specialise in neurological rehabilitation as well as rehabilitation and long-term support for people with conditions such as MND, Huntington's disease, Parkinson's, and MS. We also support people with one or a combination of the following:

- Cognitive problems including learning and memory, problem-solving, decision making, communication, self-awareness, insight, and perception
- Physical impairments that affect mobility, posture, or dexterity
- Behavioural issues such as physical and verbal aggression
- Disinhibited and / or impulsive behaviour

This is not an exhaustive list. We welcome all enquiries and consider each on a case-by-case basis.
